III. Departmental Assessment The department will conduct a self-assessment of its teaching and learning processes. This will involve examining student work samples, analyzing student feedback, and reviewing teaching practices. The results of this assessment will inform the development of future teaching and learning strategies.	IV. Student Feedback Students will be asked to provide feedback on their learning experiences. This feedback will be used to identify areas for improvement and to inform the development of future teaching and learning strategies.	V. Continuous Improvement The department will use the results of the self-assessment and student feedback to make continuous improvements to its teaching and learning processes. This will involve setting specific goals, developing action plans, and monitoring progress over time.
